

2 2014 Pinot
Grigio Ramato,
Visintini,
Collio, Italy

£11.95, reduced to £10.95
each for 12, [leand
sandeman.co.uk](http://leandsandeman.co.uk)

'Grigio' refers to the greyish-pink skin of the grapes – ramatos are slightly pink because
this colouring leaches
into the wine. They also have a drop-dead
delicious floral aroma.

3 2014 Mâcon
La Roche
Vineuse,
Domaine Gonon,
Burgundy, France

£8.95, [thewine
society.com](http://thewinesociety.com)

I rushed to taste this wine in the hope it was
as impressive as the
sold-out 2013 vintage.
In fact it's even more
beautiful and graceful.
Try it with Kim's sublime
Scallops In The Shell.

4 2013 Yalumba,
Y Series Shiraz/
Vignier,
South Australia

£9.99, reduced to £7
until 27 October, Tesco

Regular followers will know that I love this lusty, plum-drenched
wine, and when the price gets slashed I always flag it up. It's great with Kim's Herb-Crusted Lamb Cutlets
With Wild Mushrooms.

5 2014 Finest Argentinian
Malbec

£7.99, reduced
to £6 until 27
October, Tesco

You don't have to be Nostradamus to know
I'd match a malbec
with the Sirloin Steak
With Béarnaise Sauce.
This hearty red from the Catena winery is a must-have for all
carnivorous feasts.

BEHIND THE LABEL...

2014 Albourne Estate, Bacchus,
Sussex, England. £12.95, albourneestate.co.uk

Bacchus was not only the Roman god of wine – it's also the name of a white grape which, in the right hands, makes gloriously tangy, citrusy wines. This epic version won a trophy at the UKVA Wine Competition. Drink it with Kim's Butter-Roasted Skate Wing and watch it waltz through the caper
and mussel flavours with ease.
